College Rodeo

What better place to begin your inter-collegiate rodeo career than in historical Dodge City, Kansas, the "Cowboy Capital"? And, what better place to start your college career? Dodge City Community College offers traditional two-year transfer curricula as well as one- and two-year career education programs.

The DCCC's rodeo teams and Rodeo Club are active in the Central Plains Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) which is made up of two- and four-year colleges in Kansas and Oklahoma. The region hosts ten (10) rodeos each school year.

The rodeo program at Dodge City Community College has two goals:

★ First: quality individualized education. As a comprehensive community college, Dodge City Community College provides a wide range of educational opportunities to meet the diverse needs of the people it serves. Dodge City Community College represents quality and personalized education. The college recognizes the individual's needs, abilities, and learning style.

★ Second: the student rodeo athletes' participation in collegiate rodeos. There are ten scheduled rodeos each year, in every region. Thus, there is ample opportunity to "rodeo" at Dodge City Community College.

Rodeo is a vital part of DCCC's total program. Dodge City Community College offers scholarships to deserving rodeo athletes, provides travel money for participating team members, and offers college credit for rodeo competition.

Starting Date

Students may apply for NIRA membership at the start of any semester, however, because of national academic requirements, it is recommended that potential rodeo athletes apply each fall semester.
